1.1 the uneven development of the ice sports tourism industry

Due to social, economic and cultural factors, there exist obvious binary structure and the gap and the gap between west and east is obviously big, so does the ice sports tourism industry. Therefore, the development of Chinese ice sports tourism industry shows imbalance in region.

According to national sports statistical documents, local revenue in Shanghai has the largest revenue with 10915yuan, the least Ningxia with only twenty-eight million yuan; the latter's 390 times of the former. The national sports lottery circulation in 2008 reach 45.6 billion with the eastern coastal areas rank the first places such as jiangsu province 5.007 billion yuan, Zhejiang 4.024yuan, guangdong 3.92 billion yuan, while the western regions such as Gansu has only0.758billion , Ningxia billion 0.389 million and Qinghai province 0.229 billion.

Such as other sports industry, the development of each ice sports also exist obvious imbalance. Because of the differences on the popularity economic levels and advertisement value, there exist great on the marketing degree and the profit. It can be divided into three groups: the first has already formed, such as project market football, basketball, volleyball, table tennis programs, that have attracted business for investment; the second is the market is being formed, such as diving, badminton, whose market operation management level is low; the third is project has... not formed, such as market track and field, gymnastics, archery, weightlifting, etc, those projects can get some sponsorship and advertising revenue, but they lack their own hemopoietic function and count on the state.

The ice sports tourism industry in developed countries currently have occupied an important economic status, according to relevant data shows, the sports tourism industry in Europe developed countries are already accounted for 3% in GDP, in the United States also up 6%, Italian football industry has become the important economic income sources, etc. And the current Chinese sports tourism industry are small in scale, developed provinces in the eastern economy in the sports tourism industry accounted for only about 0.6~1%, in the Midwest underdeveloped areas the rate will be smaller. Compared with Chang-Ji-Tu sporting goods industry development, the Chinese ice sports fitness entertainment industry competitive performance industry and the speed of development are slow[1].
